Other Speakers.

Beginning with the morning program of five speeches the Western Economic Society carried the discussion of the subject through the day, closing the schedule tonight with one of the most important speeches made during his term of office by President Taft. Prof. H. P. Willis of George Washington University opened the day with a talk on Canadian reciprocity and commerce, and among the succeeding speakers were Prof. E. V. Robinson of the University of Minnesota and S. Matthew, president of the society, who read a statement prepared by ex-Gov. W. D. Howard of Wisconsin. President J.
